HOME DEPARTMENT.

POLICE.

Delhi, the 16th December 1923.

No. F. 1-XV—23.—In the Finance Department Resolution No. 429 C.S.R., dated the 15th May 1922, it has been announced that, with the approval of the Secretary of State, the Government of India have revised the rules in Chapter XXXVIII of the Civil Service Regulations relating to the grant of wound and other extraordinary pensions. It has now been brought to their notice that apprehensions have been expressed whether the revised rules take adequate account of the conditions of the police officer's service. Such officers are often engaged in operations of exceptional risk such as the dispersal of unlawful assemblies, suppression of riots or the arrest of dangerous criminals. Anxiety has been expressed whether operations of this nature, though falling within the scope of their duties, would fall within the terms of the new article 740-B, Civil Service Regulations. The Government of India have no hesitation in declaring that injury or death met in the performance of duties of this kind render the officer concerned or his family eligible for the benefits of the concessions provided by Section III of Chapter XXXVIII, Civil Service Regulations.

READ—the following paper :—

From A. Macleod, Esq., I.C.S., Deputy Secretary to the Government of India, Finance Department, No. 2142-O.S.R., dated 3rd December 1923.

As some doubt has been felt as to the minimum rate of exchange applicable to leave allowances drawn during commuted furlough taken under the rules in the Civil Service Regulations, I am directed to say that it has been ascertained that the Secretary of State's intention was that the favourable minimum rate of 1/6 per rupee prescribed in article 568, Civil Service Regulations, should apply to all leave-salary drawn during commuted furlough. He has accordingly been pleased to sanction, with retrospective effect from the date of introduction of the rules relating to commuted furlough, the application of that rate to commuted furlough allowances when equal in amount to the salary last drawn.
